

Sunset Patio Offers Outdoor Resort-Style Living at a Fraction of the Cost

Living in Arizona has its advantages, one of which is the ability to entertain friends and family in your decked-out backyard.

But chances are while your landscaping, pool and water features uniquely represent you and your family, your patio furniture does not. That is, unless your furniture comes from the Valley's leading authority in outdoor resort-style living and accessories, Sunset Patio.

Sunset Patio outshines its competitors because of two unique advantages. First, the company manufactures its own furniture using only top-quality techniques and then sells them at a fraction of the cost of its competitors. Second - and most importantly - the company has a secret design weapon: owner Nancy Djariri.

All of Sunset Patio's innovative designs originate from Nancy's expert sense of style and design. She takes the time to design pieces that fit your backyard and will even travel to your home to ensure that what you purchase works for what you require.

That and the fact that Sunset Patio offers 24 different wrought iron collections, and outdoor poly rattan complete with custom-made cushions that are available in hundreds of different fabrics. Nancy is constantly adding new designs and she can re-design any piece she sells to fit your backyard space.

And since Sunset Patio manufactures what it sells, Nancy can tell you at the time of your order how long it will take. There are no surprises and no delays and most orders are completed and delivered in three to four weeks - advantages that Sunset Patios maintains exclusively.

Another advantage? Nancy knows her products.

The furniture designed and manufactured by Sunset Patio does not cut corners. All finishes are powder coated, with UV protectant that reduces fading. Cushions are made in thicknesses that ensure that they will last longer and provide more comfort. And everything is backed by a three-year warranty. Even if you're only in the market for replacement cushions or pillows, Sunset Patio has you covered.

"People love our custom accent pillows and cushions," Nancy said. "We can do any size and shape and we can make them quickly - at a much cheaper cost than other companies."

Regardless of what your backyard needs, it's safe to say that when you're done at Sunset Patio, your backyard will not only reflect your tastes, it will make your home the talk of the neighborhood.

"We personalize the job," Nancy said. "It's not like when you come to me you're just buying patio furniture. Basically, the furniture we build is art. Each one is handmade. Not one piece is like another."
